CHEERFUL WORDS

For Many a Norway Household

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove helpful to hundreds of Norway readers.

Mrs. Myrtle Payne, 237 Main St., Norway, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and am thoroughly satisfied they are a dependable remedy. I had more or less pain across my back and kidneys. It annoyed me very much and when stooping and lifting, I felt it more. I found Doan's Kidney Pills good for the trouble and after I used this remedy the pains lessened. I have been practically free from the trouble since and I feel the remedy deserves my recommendation." (Statement given June 7, 1916.)

On September 3, 1920, Mrs. Payne said: "I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as highly today as I have during several years past. The great good they did me has lasted and my faith in the remedy has remained firm."

THE CHRISTMAS CHIMES

The Christmas Chimes are waking. The fields and frozen dells. The snowed hills are echoing The sound of the merry bells. Then ring ye bells, O ring bells, ring. Christ is born our King. Repeat the story old. Christ was born for glory. It is the sweetest story ever told. Fair Bethlehem's hills were gleaming With a bright and glorious star. And with men they were hastening To deck the new-born King. Then ring ye bells, ring bells ring. Christ is born our King. Repeat the story old. Christ was born for glory. It is the sweetest story ever told. So today we all are bringing Gifts to those we love. While the Christmas bells are ringing. In honor of Christ above. Then ring ye bells, ring bells ring. Christ is born our King. Repeat the story old. Christ was born for glory. It is the sweetest story ever told. MRS. L. L. SHELDON, No. Waterford.

AT CHRISTMAS-TIDE

Could every living child be taught Beside his mother's knee, How lovely are the ways of Peace And sweet Humanity; How every frail and helpless thing Should stir his heart with pitying love, We might be taught how sweet the joy, What rich reward they gain, In faith and love and gratitude, Who minister to pain. How many Yuletides would earth know Before all wars would cease, And men would live in brotherhood And universal peace!

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Over the world, with outspread wings, The Spirit of Christmas hovers and sings Of happy, hopeful, helpful things All for you and me: Charity, wide and high, Love, that reaches from earth to sky, Peace, that close to the heart doth lie— All these gifts are free.

Verdict for Grover

A verdict in favor of Fred Grover of Oxford was returned in the superior Court in Auburn in a suit brought by Kenneth G. Thayer of Mechanic Falls. The plaintiff claimed that he left a new battery at the defendant's garage, while the car was being repaired and that the one found afterwards had been used considerably. It was considered that the evidence showed that Mr. Thayer took away the same battery he left.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

BASKET BALL

N. H. S. 62, Bridgton Academy 13

Norway High defeated Bridgton Academy at Norway Opera House, Friday evening, using a wholesale stock of floor baskets to accomplish the overwhelming result. The visitors were carried off their feet on the start and never came within range of making the game a close contest. They were outclassed and not up to the clip.

Norway went on prepared for a fast mill and made a swift get-away on the whistle. Floor baskets were caged in their id succession with the visitors unable to break up the short passes. Bridgton went on defense and only at rare periods was the quietest in possession of the sphere for clean cut work during the first half. Norway made the better showing at the end of the first half, but by a narrow margin was superior to the Academy shooters at the foul line. Both outfits fell down shooting off free tries from a total of 29 penalties. Norway missed 8 chances from a possible 12 while Bridgton went into the deep pit, and lost the golden opportunity to obtain her successes even on one point emergencies. From 17 chances on fouls called against Norway, the Academies hooped up only 3 points.

With the score decidedly one-sided, Norway played with more reckless daring during the second half, expecting the opposing team put across the long pass which had been played with more or less success earlier in the contest. Bridgton was proficient in this play and handled cleanly the four cornered stuff, but in closer quarters the accuracy was not apparent. The visitors attacked more viciously during the last twenty minutes and held the ball for longer periods under Norway's basket. This brought little gain as the netted ring couldn't be located, and many beauty shots from vantage points went wide of the point maker. Norway played the close guard when necessary, and by this method the indoor football and basketball were caged in both periods. Bridgton was handicapped by the slippery floor and failed to work up their usual speed on short notice, this objectionable condition cannot be changed here.

A noticeable feature was the reform instituted by Referee True under the new rules, to eliminate indoor football and other objectionable strategy. Any flagrant violation of the strict rules imposed to lation of the strict rules imposed to make the game typically "basket ball," carried a penalty, which will account for the unusual number of fouls called. He kept every player on the move and no spectator can charge any slowness to delays from his strictness and fairness in the manner of arresting disagreeable features, distasteful to lovers of clean sportsmanship.

A large crowd remained to the dance that followed the game until midnight. Music by Anderson's Orchestra. The Bridgton team and visitors remained and a pleasant time was had. The score:

Norway Girls 14; Bridgton Academy Girls 13

The girls' basketball team of Norway High School made their first appearance on the home floor Friday evening in conjunction with the regular show staged by the boys. Their opponents were the husky outfit from Bridgton Academy, well known for skillful playing around the floor and in the air. The "three court" rules were used which are not tramp cards for the Norway girls coached largely in the double court. But the game was played and both teams went after the pill with a vengeance so far as the girls' rules allowed.

Playing was largely nip and tuck, first Bridgton at the steering wheel for a short spin, then Norway swinging into the road for a brief joy ride. Clean passing and dodging was featured with Bridgton a trifle more nifty and less prone to fumble in tight squeezes. Norway was quick to recover lost ground and was naturally more sure of basket positions than the visitors. A smooth surface, and a desire to accomplish things crowded players on both teams over the lines which will account for numerous penalties in the summary.

A 10 all score at the close of the first half was the stimulant to set the girls working during the second part. Norway caged two from the floor and jumped four points into the lead, Bridgton found a floor goal and one from the foul line. This gave Norway a scare which lasted until the final whistle. Both teams went into a deadlock during the last two minutes and the fight to keep the ball from the respective baskets was an exciting finish. The score:

Vacuum Sweeper For Basket Ball

The happy days are dawning when interscholastic basketball is to be scrubbed clean, and a pseudo-professionalism buried under the red. We have had enough of this hit-below-the-belt playing and every patron of clean sport will hail with delight all standardized rules impartially enforced to divorce a snappy clean cut sport from a back alley argument.

Last season nearly every preparatory outfit had standards governed largely by local public opinion. Methods countenanced in one school would be vigorously condemned by another. Therefore the ethics of basketball has been see-sawing until in many schools fiddle-dee-winks on one extreme and blighting on the other, has destroyed the spirit of a keen winter sport and marked schools and academies as either "mushies" or "toughies." Monkeying with professional stunts, believing the public want a "killing bee," has given coaches and players a wrong perspective. This false premise has injured honest competition and reacted against institutions of learning indifferent to questionable tactics put over to win at all costs.

With no intention to criticize or reflect upon the integrity and striking qualities of coaches, officials and players for Norway High School in the present, the writer is enthusiastically behind any referee who will hold the players to their intrinsic merits. The present rules are flexible. They permit any team or individual work necessary for speed and satisfactory playing. Wide latitude is given passing, and the defense or attack is no wise handicapped when legitimately conducted. Strategy in good sport is not an act to deliberately imperil an opponent or rush victoriously over fractured limbs. It should be a matter of subtle skill in brain and muscle, but not brute force. Sheep animal strength exerted blindly often wins over finer qualities governed by a strict moral code, but it is not clean sport. The sooner coaches and players absorb the higher qualities which must govern athletics, the better for the game.

This fact was worked out at a gathering of physical directors, basketball coaches and players in Lewiston City Hall, Saturday evening. The same idea has been carried to success in Portland. Games were played before experts who criticized freely, and explained every move contrary to the letter and spirit of the rules. We do not wish to kill red blood sport and change high school athletics into a sewing circle, but to preserve the tang of strictly amateur sport let's follow at least the spirit of the rules and cease hunting for jokers.

Norway has been playing consistent basketball under strict supervision, and no misconduct is implied in the foregoing suggestions. It is generalized from recollections carried over from last winter, and could be applied to side line spectators as well. In a number of instances the rooters were wholly responsible for a degeneration of the sport. Community and school spirit are excellent, and any team supported to the limit by its friends is fortunate indeed. The thing can be overworked, giving a repulsive taste to be carried home by the opponent and spread broadcast. A reaction comes and the town and school fall against a solar plexus blow.

WALTER S. CHANDLER.

Woodstock High School, 52; Bridgton Academy 25

In a snappy game played in Dudley Opera House, Bryant's Pond, Saturday evening, the locals swamped the visitors with an avalanche of floor baskets and was never in a doubtful position. Billings, Brooks and Morse were the basket makers for Woodstock, Walker proved the best shooter for Bridgton. The score:

In a fast and furious game between West Paris High and Woodstock High, played in Centennial Hall, the visitors' team was defeated by a score of 32 to 14. Briggs starred for West Paris and Morse for Woodstock. The score:

Coming Events

Dec. 25—Norway Opera House, Sunlight show in afternoon; basketball and dance in evening.

Dec. 31—2nd Annual Ball, Norway Opera House, auspices of Oxford Castle No. 2, Knights of Golden Eagle.

THE BRIGHTNESS OF THE MORNING

The value of living and its pleasures depends absolutely upon the character of one's relations with others.

One may be deeply religious without being what is called orthodox. Orthodoxy, like charity, covers a multitude of sins. But one never could convince it of that truth.

It is the importance of service that should impress every mind. To realize this importance is the fundamental ethical lesson.

One's relations with others should be direct and not diplomatic. Power ever leaves a bitter taste in the mouth. To be mean is to be disgusting. Proper pride preserves right folk from meanness, from hardness and coldness.

We may flout it and laugh at it but conventional holds us all in servitude. Conventionalism is the mother of dreariness. But she takes us to church, or to the theatre, or to a reception, and we kiss her regal finger tips while we want to kick her.

Pleasure exists not in virtue of material conditions, but in the joyous heart. The joyous heart can indicate no unkindness, no discourtesy, expressed or implied. The joyful heart palpitates with consideration for the rights in the inspiration of others by a helpfulness that is sincere and unassuming.

Prohibition and dour intolerance are abroad in the land. History has taught us little. We burn a Savonarola, or a Cramer, or a Joan of Arc, and God and the reformers are glorified—so the reformers say. But what they say is false. The morning is true. The majority of mornings are bright. We can take something of their luminousness into our hearts if we will. Many of us, perhaps most of us, do this subconsciously.

THE TRUCK AND THE ROAD

The world is being motorized. The fact was a mighty factor in determining the issue of the late war. It is a mighty factor in its effect upon business trade. Farm and city life have been revolutionized by the chariots of the new age.

But a note of protest and alarm is heard from many quarters with reference to the growing use of trucks. The Bureau of Public Roads, Department of Agriculture, calls attention to the importance of maintaining improved highways, which, it is said, the trucks do much to impair.

Something of the tremendous volume of automobile traffic may be gathered from the published estimate that there is a present total in all the states of the Union of 7,565,446 registered motor cars, including cycles and trucks.

But the truck is here to stay. It has helped to solve the problems of transportation. It is the farmers' friend. It is welcomed by the small business men of the villages. It is a veritable car of progress.

Certainly the roads should be maintained in repair. If of the worst and neither truck nor limousine could function properly. This should not be so difficult in view of the additional revenues paid to the state and local governments in the form of license fees. These should be devoted to highway needs.

Along with the development of inland waterways the development and maintenance of a vast system of enduring highways is of supreme importance to the industrial progress of the nation.

Let the trucks run and rage; let the swift pleasure cars devour the illimitable distances; they are invading and useful factors in the life of this most progressive of nations. To keep the nation's highways in a condition of proper repair is economic sense. Any expenditure so applied will be well invested.

Josiah Richardson
After several months' illness, Josiah Richardson passed away, Saturday night, at the Norway Town farm, where he had been cared for, his health condition the past few months. His age was 77 years.

He was a native of Norway, born Oct. 30, 1843, the son of John Richardson, Jr., and Lucy N. Brown Richardson, and one of a family of seven children. He spent practically all his life in this town, and carried on business to within a few years.

Mr. Richardson was twice married, his first wife was Lucinda Bennett and the second Mary Pierce Jordan. During his early years he carried on the home farm, later he conducted a small store at Noble's Corner and kept the post office, carrying the mail from Norway village. Disposing of the store to Leon Noyes, he moved to Swift's Corner and in 1885 sold the place to George A. French.

Several years ago he went into trade at the post office, soon gave it up and returned to Norway village, where he became known as a painter and paper hanger. The past few years failing in health deprived him of a steady income and he was removed to the farm where his last days could be made comfortable.

FEED HIM WELL

The influence of the kitchen upon domestic tranquility and happiness is of no trivial importance. A sensible "cure" prescribed for the divorce evil is suggested by a distinguished woman, the wife of a United States senator. Her formula is: Relief from the divorce plague can be obtained through the medicine of the home and the introduction of home-loving, efficient women. As she pertinently phrases it: "Lawyers would be without divorces, dentists would be without patients and physicians' bills would be cut in half if women of the country knew how to cook."

According to this observant authority universities should teach young women something about motherhood and the conduct of a home instead of grounding them in the principles of civics, literature, art and the superficialities of multifarious philosophies.

There is something to this homely creed. Home-making should be regarded as among the important professions. In the practical, every-day home the kitchen and its management have much to do with domestic success or failure. There is truth in the flippancy phrase "Feed the brute well and you will keep him content."

A knowledge of cooking on the part of the wife is very essential to national contentment. It is the well-ordered home which makes for marital stability and happiness. The shadow of divorce will not much trouble the home in which preside a reasonably tolerant husband and a home-loving and efficient wife.

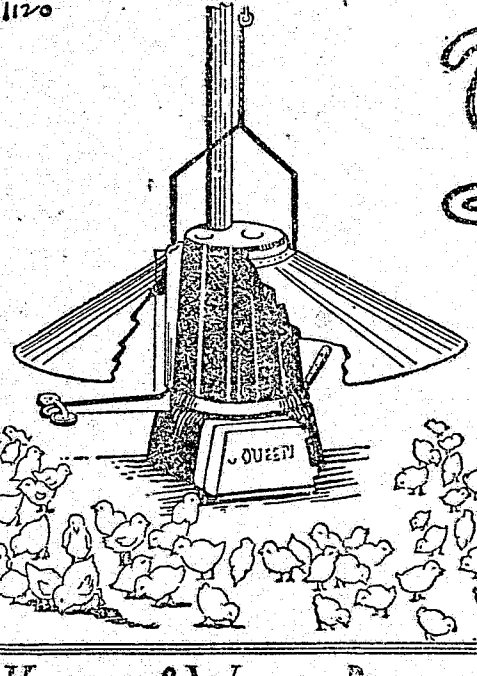

Learning how to register and vote is a matter of some importance to the women of today, but knowing how to make the light puffy biscuits and to broil a steak

Recently a certain lady sat down by the stove for a few minutes to read the Advertiser. She put both feet in the oven, in all probability to keep them warm. She became so intent upon her reading that before she knew it, one shoe was nearly half destroyed by fire. She rushed to the water tap and extinguished the miniature conflagration, but not before her foot was quite severely burned. The Advertiser certainly must be an interesting paper. "Buy or Borrow a Copy."

Nowadays a man knows that he isn't going to get much benefit from taking a patent medicine unless the label announces an alcoholic content of 10 or 15 per cent.

CREATIVE CHEMISTRY

The Chemical Foundation is a corporation which was organized during the recent war period to buy from the alien property custodian, and to hold for the chemical industries and for the country at large, the German-owned United States and allied chemical patents taken over by that custodian under the trading with the enemy act.

The company is a Delaware corporation, capitalized at $500,000. To fulfill its function of aiding in the advancement and development of chemistry and allied sciences in the United States, the Foundation is seeking to inform the people of this country of the dependence of all upon preserving their chemical freedom, which was wrested from Germany during the war, and to interest them in such wider educational efforts as alone can furnish the country with trained chemists to hold and push forward this essential science. As it is realized that chemical research constantly aims to improve and cheapen every process in every business, this science seems too essential to our national prosperity to permit it to ever again fall into the hands of a foreign monopoly. The same science that forever fights the high cost of living in factory or on farm also guards the sanitation of our homes. Moreover, in an emergency every laboratory and dye-works can be transformed over, night into a production plant for war gases and explosives.

Referring to the work the Foundation is doing and which it proposes to do, President Francis P. Garvan says that to his mind by far the most inspiring objects American chemists can attain is the actual saving, prolonging and strengthening of human life, which has just been opened as a possibility through the lending of the chemist's art to the study of biology, bacteriology, joint research of biologists, bacteriologists and pharmacologists. If America should maintain her chemical independence with no other end in view than the stamping out of disease and deadly epidemics in this field, Mr. Garvan believes that the most determined efforts in this direction would be worth while and fully justified.

As a book which serves most entertainingly to lay the basis of intelligent understanding of the vital need of America's chemical independence, the officials of the Chemical Foundation recommend Edwin E. Slosson's "Creative Chemistry," a book on chemistry written on the assumption that the reader has no previous knowledge of the science.

In his introduction to the book, Julius Stieglitz, formerly president of the American Chemical Society and professor of chemistry in the University of Chicago, says that Mr. Slosson is better qualified than any other man in the country to bring home to his readers some of the great results of modern chemical activity as well as some of the big problems which must continue to engage the attention of chemists, declaring he has the unique ability of "combining an exact and intimate knowledge of chemistry with the exquisite clarity and pointedness of expression of a born writer."

DON'T BE STUBBORNLY FOOLISH

Here is something so nicely said in the Transcript-Journal of Franklin, Falls, N. H., we copy it as it applies here as well as in that state.—Editor.
"Wages go up much more easily than they come down." In our advertising columns are many announcements of discounts from former prices. These range from ten to twenty-five per cent, and are from firms which we have confidence to believe are making sacrifice of profits in order to lower the cost of living.
"But notwithstanding this, those who work in the large mills and shops of Manchester refuse to accept any reduction in their pay envelopes."
"The master of the State Grange is authority for the statement that the McElwain Shoe Company, last week, were obliged to turn down a million dollar contract for shoes which they could have taken if the workers would have accepted a fifteen per cent. cut in their wages."
"And the same day the leading milk dealer in that city was obliged to skin his customers because they were out of his customers because they were out of the usual amount."

A CLEANLINESS NEXT TO UNGODLINESS

Each sphere of human life offers its occupants exceptional opportunities to study human nature in some particular aspect and an employment bureau is no exception to the rule.

Mrs. Marie Hall of the branch on Forty-sixth street in New York City, sat back in her chair and told a reporter the fact that boys and their mothers are looking for jobs in which they can wear good clothes and look pretty.

"A boy who lives in our flat building comes home early and he is always nice and clean. I want my boy to be like that," said a typical mother.

It is only what may be called the genuine sort of cleanliness that is next to godliness, and such incidents as these, if they are common, would prove that there is a cleanliness which is next to ungodliness.

Much of the work of the world is dirty work, and to be ashamed or unwilling to do it is a sign of a false aestheticism, as well as of moral weakness.

To any one who knows life profoundly there are few more attractive sights than a husky youth of 18 years, or 20 years, crawling out from under an automobile black as the ace of spades and greasy as a pair of lard. He is a manly beauty, not one bit inferior to that of a lad in the spotless uniform of West Point or Annapolis; or in a swallow tail, on his way to a party. Any sculptor, or portrait painter, might well be proud and happy to take for a model or any one of a thousand such youngsters in the garage.

There are good and sufficient reasons why a young fellow, on the threshold of life, should seek some business or profession where he would have to wear good clothes and keep his hands clean, but those reasons are not the discomforts or disgrace of the grime of shop, or mills, or mines.

And what a transfiguration it is when one of those grimy mechanics comes out from the shower bath and goes stalking home with his good clothes on and his head held high in the air! It is like the appearance of the rainbow after a storm.

There is no disgrace in dirt which is only one day old.

When a girl has her hair curled she is half dressed.

Cellar Flooded

The heavy rain of last Tuesday flooded many cellars in town. Mr. Kneeland, fearing there might be trouble with their cellar as the doorway was flooded, went down and looked after it just before going to bed, but found it all clear. Imagining the surprise of Mrs. Kneeland on going down in the early morning, stepping from the fourth stair from the bottom to go over her boot in water. Hastily procuring a light, found over 3 feet of water in the cellar. Potatoes, apples and all kinds of vegetables were swimming in all directions. After working for some time with the help of W. L. Heath, it was found the drain clogged near the outlet. Over 20 bushels of potatoes have been brought up and dried by the stove, making lots of hard and dirty work.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as the cause is the disease of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be removed and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by a running inflammation of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrhal Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surface of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrhal Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

A Norway man recently said: "When I was young we had, and read, all the books that children of that day read anywhere. Arabian Nights, Gulliver's Travels, Robinson Crusoe, Uncle Tom's Cabin, Robinson Crusoe, Scottish Chiefs, Thaddeus of Warsaw, Scott, Dickens, Whittier, Tennyson, etc. Tallow candles, whale oil and fluid lamps were used. I was about 10 years old when "Uncle Tom's Cabin" came out, and I remember sitting around with the rest of the family while mother read it aloud. The first book I received for Christmas was "The Last Days of Pompeii." To my mind the so-called children's books do not compare with the old writers and their books."

Hood's Sarsaparilla Makes Food Taste Good

Creates an appetite, aids digestion, purifies the blood, and thus relieves scrofula, catarrh, the pains and aches of rheumatism and gives strength to the whole system.

Nearly 50 years' phenomenal sales tell the story of the great merit and success of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is just the medicine you need now.

Hood's Pills help—fine laxative or cathartic, according to dose. Relieve headache, restore comfort.

Bath Times.—Peculiarly restful and beneficial at this time of the year, especially if there is no snow on the earth, is a walk thru the suburban woods, either with or without a dog and gun for rabbits and foxes. The solitudes are so still, hardly a chipmunk or a little snowbird being seen, that the woods seem to be dead, the world to have passed out of existence, leaving one alone just to rest and reflect. If on gunning intent the occasional tracks of a rabbit or trail of a fox add to the excitement and thrill of the hunt; the odor of the earth and pine trees with their balsamic perfume, is better than drugs for the system and the very loneliness of the woods is a tonic for the inner man. It is this fascination of solitude in the woods that attracts many of the hunters as much as the quest of game.

There was a time when Pearls came from oysters and were very rare. But nowadays they come from 10-cent stores and are very common.

BISHOP HUGHES ATTENDED DEDICATION

The new Community Hall in connection with the Methodist Episcopal church was dedicated, Thursday evening, Dec. 16, and the church edifice which has been repaired and painted was re-dedicated. Exercises were held during the afternoon and evening with a platform service in the afternoon and the dedicatory service in the evening, with the following program:

Organ Prelude
Quartet
Hymn 660
Prayer.....Rev. H. L. Nichols, Skowhegan
Solo.....Helen Dunn
Scripture Lesson, Heb. 10:19-25
.....Rev. D. F. Faulkner, South Paris
Hymn 666

Offertory.....Psalm 122

Doxology.....Rev. F. A. Sullivan

Benediction.....Bishop Hughes' dedicatory sermon was a masterpiece and held the closest attention, being marked among the leaders in pulpit eloquence and magnetic personality.

After the church service, Bishop Hughes was escorted on a tour of inspection to the new Community Hall, where an informal reception was held. Rev. H. L. Nichols of Skowhegan, a former pastor of the Norway church, was in the party and greeted by his former parishioners and many friends from other denominations.

Improvements
During the summer and fall, the church edifice has been undergoing repairs, with new steel ceilings and walls, the auditorium being toned with soft colorings in green and buff. Several years ago a fine organ was installed and the pipes have been tinted like the walls. The pews, chancel rail and pulpit furniture underwent a complete renovation, and new electric fixtures were installed. The outside of the church was freshly painted, and other needed improvements were made. The parsonage adjoining was repaired and painted.

For many years the Ladies Aid have labored under difficulties when serving their public dinners and suppers, as the vestry was small with no kitchen accommodations.

Under the inspiration of the new pastor, Rev. F. A. Sullivan, the new Community Hall was planned and built. The new hall faces on Lynn street where entrance is made by a vestibule, which has lavatories and toilet rooms on either side. At the back of the room is a large fireplace, inlaid with tile, and with a fine mantle, giving the room a very cozy appearance. Connection with the church is made by a hallway. Leading from this on the opposite side is the kitchen, equipped for making work easy. A large tank in the center of the room makes dish washing a pleasure. Cupboards, drawers and sideboards combine in making this an ideal place for serving. The kitchen and hall can be made into one room when necessary.

The hall fills a long felt want of a place for the young people to hold their meetings and socials, and in the Sunday school room. R. F. Spearin of Portland had charge of the interior decorating. Woodbury Russell was the contractor and builder, with Freeman C. Smith on the mason work.

Brief History
Circuit riders undoubtedly visited Rustford (Norway) at an early date, but the first conference was not held until 1819. The Methodist denomination secured no permanent hold here until later than 1830, when their numbers increased beyond the capacity of the district schoolhouses. A small meeting house was established at Swift's Corner, which is still used for services during the summer. Some years later the meeting house was sold to the Congregationalists.

The foundation of the present church on Beal street was laid in July, 1879, following a revival of great power and enthusiasm. The edifice was completed the following year, the structure being William H. Richards of West Paris. He moved to Norway, and a daughter, Mrs. Fred Allen, resides here and is a prominent worker in the church.

The present minister, Rev. Mr. Sullivan, was born in Nova Scotia, and fitted for the ministry in New York. He was connected with the denominational publishing house during his early training. His labors after graduation commenced in New York, where he was assistant pastor at the Metropolitan Temple. Later he settled in No. Conway, N. H., and after three years was transferred to Orr's Island, where he was stationed for three years. His last charge was at Goodwin's Mills near Biddeford, where he preached five years until he received the Norway appointment. Mrs. Sullivan has been associated in the work twelve years. She is native of Hiram. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan entered heartily into the work, and the church prospered.

Officers for 1921
At the regular meeting of the W. H. Stone Post, No. 82, American Legion, held at their home, on Dec. 20th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Post Commander—Bial F. Bradbury.
Vice Commander—A. Leon Siskeng.
Post Adjutant—Wilfred G. Conary.
Post Historian—Howard W. Chick.
Chaplain—Edward H. Brown.
Insurance Officer—William W. Gallagher.
Finance Officer—Knox Bickford.
Employment Officer—Arthur W. Easton.

The Post received a check from the Women's Relief Corps, and a vote of thanks was extended to them for this donation to the home building fund.

Many ex-service men in outlying districts are taking advantage of the Legion home and are sending applications for membership.

Robert A. Kimball of North Waterford moved into the Walter H. Pride rent "Thanksgiving" day. Mr. and Mrs. Pride are to spend the winter in Massachusetts.

The Norway Water Co. reservoir might not be considered a safe skating rink, but the children have been using the surface for skating stunts and are living to tell the tale. With good ice everywhere it is a peculiar twist in the human make-up to choose the hazardous, and enjoy the tangle incidental to a knowledge of the danger.

The Norway Public Library will be open Friday, Dec. 24, from 6:30 to 8:00 o'clock.

Coach Albert C. Parker, Referee Stanley Reed and several basketball players from the Norway High team attended the games and demonstration in Lewiston, Saturday night. This was staged by the Bates A. A. in City Hall to bring players, coaches and managers into touch with the new rules. Opinions vary over the changes and it remains to be seen how far the public will stand air brakes on the game.

Rare Book and Powder Horn

We have on our desk a powder horn and a copy of Milton's Paradise Lost that belong to H. L. Horne. He recently found them in the attic. Both are ancient and once the property of W. L. Horne of Portland. The powder horn is artistically carved. The bottom is held in place with wooden dowels and in it is a hand forged nail which was used for holding the belt. There are many emblems, birds, balloons or snowshoes carved on it. Also the initials "I. W." and "A. H." "1723-4."

We presume this shows its age. There are birds, vines, buildings, scroll, and flowers. It must have taken weeks to have done it and shows much skill and patience. The horn is thick and heavy and worn smooth by much use.

The 12 books of John Milton were printed in London, Eng., M. DCC. LXXVIII (1778). It has a portrait of the author and twelve Garden of Eden views during the fig leaf period of civilization. They include birds of the air and beasts of the fields with serpents and devils as well as the famous scenes of Adam and Eve on the river bank before they indulged in loving apples.

Dr. Thomas Newton, Lord Bishop of Bristol, writes a biographical sketch of the Blind Poet and Andrew Marvell an instructive poem. The volume is carefully indexed and is a rare book for these days.

Holiday Dance and Basket Ball
Sunlight hop commences at Norway Opera House, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 to continue until 5 o'clock. Entertainment, Christmas night, begins at 8 o'clock sharp with a fierce basket ball encounter between Norway High School and the Alumni. Two twenty periods will settle an argument under consideration the past two weeks. The winner will be presented fancy chocolates valued at $5.00 so there is an inducement to loosen up.

The Alumni will include practically the speedy bunch which represented Norway High, last season, with a few additions. Possibly many joints have become rusty the past twelve months, but some of the old pep remains and a fight to the finish is anticipated. The former stars who expect to dazzle this year's outfit are Sted, True, "Stubby" Crocker, Hal Thompson, Guy Murdoch, Orin Stone, "Fat" Fletcher and "Doe" Bethel. This is some array for a comeback show and the present team must think quickly if they expect to outwit the old wise ones.

Dancing will follow. Anderson's Orchestra, six piece, will furnish music, afternoon and evening.

Doughty-Sidelinger
Perley A. Doughty and Mrs. Elva M. Sidelinger were married, Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 15, at the Methodist parsonage. Rev. F. A. Sullivan officiated. Immediately after the ceremony, they left for Gorham, N. H., for a short trip, and on their return they will reside in South Paris, where Mr. Doughty has employment with the Paris Manufacturing Company.

Walter H. Pride went to Milton, Mass., Monday, where he will spend the winter with his daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Davis. Mrs. Pride has been there for the past four weeks.

Several stores have additional clerks this week to meet the holiday visitors and demonstrate the goods.

Milletville and Crockett Ridge
The big rain of Tuesday, Dec. 14, made it almost impossible for choppers to cross the meadows and brooks in places to get into the woods to work on the timber.

Will F. Young of Crockett Ridge seems to be the champion pig raiser of this vicinity. He has several nice Chester, brood sows and a large number of pigs of various ages and colors, a sight worth going to see—some beauties.

Lindsay Morse visited his parents, C. L. Morse and wife, last Sunday. He made the trip back to his boarding place on skis.

Minot Morse from Reading, Mass., has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. Foster Jackson, at S. I. and Rust Jackson's.

Ernest Navon and wife of South Paris was in the neighborhood, Sunday, and called at Mrs. J. J. Millett's.

PORTER

Fatal Accident
Silas Boothby, who bought the old barn of Orion Black on the so-called Abram farm, had torn it down and was hauling the boards to his home at Kezar Falls. Wednesday morning, while Mrs. Black was in her yard, she saw Mr. Boothby's horses hauling a load of boards toward home without any driver. Knowing that there must be trouble of some kind she quickly called her husband who went up the road to investigate, and there beside the road he found Mr. Boothby dead.

As Mr. Boothby was alone, it will never be known exactly how the accident occurred. But it looks as if the sleds struck a rock in the road and Mr. Boothby was thrown off the load on to the horses and then thrown off on to the road. The road here is seldom used and is very rough. The body was moved to Kezar Falls by Undertaker Sidney B. Stanley. The funeral services were held at his home on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Stillman Rounds of Kezar Falls visited Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fox, on Sunday.

The fall term of school ended at the Black school, Friday, with spending of Christmas selections. The teacher, Miss Riddell, had a prettily trimmed tree for the children, all receiving gifts from her and their playmates.

John Braden and Mrs. Mary Braden called on Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Chapman, Saturday evening.

NAPLES

Tom Welch of South Casco is at work for W. H. Burnham, cutting cord wood. School closed on Wednesday in the Lord district with a Christmas tree and speaking pieces. The teacher, Margaret Dean, spent her vacation with her parents in Penobscot.

James Chute has just returned from Massachusetts. He has leased his farm at South Harrison for a boys' summer school.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

THE FORD RUNABOUT

The Ford Runabout needs no advertising. About all we have to do is to tell you we can supply the demand with something like promptness and the selling is over. We have never been able to get enough from the factory to meet the demand and do not suppose we ever will get enough. There are more than four million five hundred thousand Ford cars in operation today, and of this number about three hundred thousand are in foreign countries, the rest right here in America, but we have one hundred and five to one hundred and ten millions of people and it looks from the way demand comes in that we will have to sell that many Runabouts before we can satisfy that demand.

It is one great, little utility. It fits into every man's wants, from the physician to the worker in the factory, from the country blacksmith to the millionaire railroad owner, from the contractor and his employees to the millionaire sporting man's entourage, almost as necessary these days as the handkerchief.
